How Delaware Students Access Digital Books:
Delaware Accelerate Learning Digital Collection

Every student in the state now has access to digital books for required curriculum reading, pleasure reading and summer reading programs. The Sora student reading app provides a single access point to this collection – and many others – 24/7, 365 days a year, from any device.

HOW STUDENTS ACCESS BOOKS USING SORA:

1

Access Sora: https://soraapp.com/library/deschools

Students can use their school credentials to access Sora in a number of ways: Via the URL directly, an app launcher such as ClassLink or Clever or from a link in the LMS, such as Google Classroom.

2

Many collections, one experience

In Sora, students browse and borrow digital books from the Delaware Accelerate Learning statewide collection. They can also borrow from their individual school or district digital collections. Finding books is a seamless, unified experience for students.

3

Add a public library

Students can also use Sora's "Add a Library" feature to add the Delaware Libraries digital collection. Their school credentials work here, too! Students only see age-appropriate titles in the public library's digital collection.

4

Any Time Any Where Any Device

Read whenever, wherever

Books can be downloaded to any device to read or listen offline.

5

Never worry about lost books or late returns

Once the lending period has expired, books are returned automatically.

6

Leverage data & insights

Educators can access Sora's reading data and insights to inform purchasing decisions and guide interventions.
